Health topic of the month: Four health behaviors contribute to a longer life

May 2015

Four health risk behaviors—lack of physical activity, poor nutrition, tobacco use, and excessive alcohol consumption—are responsible for much of the illness and death related to chronic diseases. Seven out of 10 deaths among Americans each year are from chronic diseases.

- Heart disease, cancer, and stroke account for more than 50% of all deaths each year. People can live longer if they practice one or more healthy lifestyle behaviors—smoking, eating a healthy diet, getting regular physical activity, and limiting alcohol consumption. Not smoking provides the most protection from dying early from all causes.

People who engaged in all four healthy behaviors were 56 percent less likely to die early from cancer, 65 percent less likely to die early from cardiovascular disease, and 57 percent less likely to die early from other causes compared to people who did not engage in any of the healthy behaviors.

What You Can Do to Live a Healthier and Longer Life:

- Avoid Excessive Alcohol Use:
  - Drink alcohol in moderation (men should have no more than two drinks per day; and women no more than one drink per day).

- Avoid Tobacco:
  - If you do not smoke, don't start.
  - If you currently smoke, and want to quit, attend one of our tobacco cessation classes or schedule a one-on-one session to help you stop smoking or using tobacco.

- Improve Nutrition:
  - Eat more fruits, vegetables, whole grains, low-fat and low-sodium dairy products, and seafood.
  - Eat fewer foods with sodium (salt), saturated fats, trans fats, cholesterol, and added sugars.

- Engage in Physical Activity:
  - Participate in 3 hours and 30 minutes (150 minutes) of moderate-intensity aerobic activity (i.e., brisk walking) every week, or
  - Participate in 1 hour and 15 minutes (75 minutes) of vigorous-intensity aerobic activity (i.e., jogging or running) every week, or
  - Participate in an equivalent mix of moderate- and vigorous-intensity aerobic activity and
  - Engage in muscle-strengthening activities on 2 or more days a week that work major muscle groups (legs, hips, back, abdomen, chest, shoulders, and arms)
